NEW DEVELOPMENTS

THE TSUBAKI TOWER OPENS IN TUMON

Guam's newest luxury resort, The Tsubaki Tower, opened on July 1 with a ribbon-cutting ceremony to officially welcome guests and celebrate a new milestone in Guam's tourism history. The Tsubaki Tower is the first newly built hotel in Guam within the past four years.

The Tsubaki Tower's 340 all-oceanview rooms and suites with their large well-appointed balconies, offer an elevated level of luxury. The 27-story tower is perched at the highest point of Tumon Bay and nestles into five acres of lush greenery and mountainside.

Mr. Mitsuo "Mike" Sato, President of P.H.R. Ken Micronesia, Inc. noted that The Tsubaki Tower aims to serve as an ambassador of Guam. He said, "From the conceptual stage, The Tsubaki Tower was designed to honor the island's unique culture and sense of place. We wanted to show our commitment to Guam by including its essence in the littlest details."

The resort also features two types of dining, three bars, lobby lounge, 24-hour deli, takeout cafe, and in-room dining services.

The resort is offering special opening packages. Room reservations can be made through the resort's website. Dining reservations for Casa Oceano, the resort's all-day dining restaurant, can be made by email at fbreservations@thetsubakitower.com.

"We are very proud of our newest property in Guam and have been looking forward to welcoming guests to enjoy The Tsubaki Journey. We spent that last six years planning how every detail will include the warmth of Guam's Håfa Adai spirit."

Mike Sato, President, PHR Ken Micronesia, Inc.

GDOL FURTHER EXPLAINS PUA FRAUD

Guam Department of Labor announced that to qualify for unemployment benefits, individuals must be able and available to work. GDOL reminds the public that Pandemic Unemployment Assistance and Federal Pandemic Unemployment Compensation is not available to employees who refuse to go back to work or who quit in order to receive benefits.

- Under the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act, quitting work without good cause to get unemployment benefits is considered fraud.
- If an employer calls an employee back to work and s/he rejects the offer in order to collect benefits, that's also fraud.
- To qualify for PUA an individual must be out of work or unable to go back to work due to one of the COVID-19 related reasons listed under the Act.
- Employees must understand if their employer fires them for not returning to work and they do not have an approved

COVID-19 related reason, they are disqualified from receiving further PUA benefits from the date they were fired.

- Employers can report the firing of an employee to pua.fraud@dol.guam.gov. An immediate hold will then be placed on the employee's PUA claim.
- Employees who were on leave but still received their full paycheck from their employers (Payment Protection Program, loans, annual leave, sick leave, etc.) are considered fully employed and are not eligible for PUA for those weeks they received their full paychecks. Only those employees who were paid a partial or reduced paycheck are considered eligible, but they still must report all income in their weekly claims.
- For individuals who worked multiple jobs prior to the pandemic, when applying for unemployment benefits, they must report all income and recent work history. Failure to do so may result in a possible fraud case.

For more information on the unemployment assistance programs, call 311, 735-0527 or 735-0532 on weekdays. For login issues, email webadmin@dol.guam.gov. For claim or weekly certification issues, email pua.hotline@dol.guam.gov.

PUA applicants, Mañe'lu, has graciously volunteered to become a lighthouse for those applying for PUA who may have language barriers. Mañe'lu has Chuukese, Pohnpeian, Kosraean, and Yapese speaking case workers who can assist at the Micronesian Resource Center. Please utilize their services. Please call 789-1265 to make an appointment.

Contact tracing call?

5 things to know

A contact tracer from your state health department might call if you've been exposed to COVID-19. But scammers are pretending to be contact tracers, too. Here's how you can spot the scam.

Real contact tracers won't ask you for money.

Only scammers insist on payment by gift card, money transfer, or cryptocurrency.

Contact tracing doesn't require your bank account or credit card number.

Never share account information with anybody who contacts you asking for it.

Legitimate contact tracers will never ask for your Social Security number.

Never give any part of your Social Security number to anyone who contacts you.

Your immigration status doesn't matter for contact tracing, so real tracers won't ask.

If they do, you can bet it's a scam.

Do not click on a link in a text or email.

Doing so can download malware onto your device.

Talking to a real contact tracer helps stop the spread of COVID-19. Reporting scammers helps stop them, too. Report fake contact tracers to your state and at ftc.gov/complaint.

For more information about contact tracing visit your state health department's website and

COVID-19

PREVENTION SAVES LIVES!

Guidance for Close Contacts of Someone with COVID-19:

- If you have been in close contact with someone with COVID-19, a contact tracer from the Department of Public Health and Social Services might call to inform you that you've been exposed. They will ask you to stay at home and self-quarantine.
 - Close contact means you were within 6 feet of a person with COVID-19 for at least 15 minutes.
 - You should stay at home and self-quarantine for 14 days, starting from the most recent day that you were possibly exposed to COVID-19. The contact tracer will inform you of the dates of your self-quarantine.
 - Self-quarantine means staying home, monitoring yourself, and maintaining social distancing (at least 6 feet from others at all times). You should remain in a specific room separate from other non-exposed people and pets in your home, and use a separate bathroom, if possible.
 - If you need to be around other people or animals in or outside of the home, wear a cloth face covering. This will help protect the people around you.
 - If you need support or assistance with self-quarantine, then your health department or community organizations may be able to provide assistance.
 - Self-quarantine helps slow the spread of COVID-19 and can help keep your friends and neighbors healthy.

Close contacts of someone with COVID-19 should monitor for any symptoms of COVID-19 and notify DPHSS if symptoms develop. Seek medical care if symptoms become severe. Severe symptoms include trouble breathing, persistent pain or pressure in the chest, confusion, inability to wake or stay awake, or bluish lips or face.
