LIVING THE HÅFA ADAI PLEDGE

Beachin' Shrimp serves up local flavor and warm service.

The Håfa Adai Pledge is embodied in our hospitality, one that shares Guam’s rich island culture. From the moment Beachin’ Shrimp hosts greet guests, they feel welcome. Our friendly and attentive servers always offer to take pictures of guests, instead of asking if they'd like a photo. Our guests love seeing Guam and experience the Håfa Adai spirit of the local culture.

GUAMEDIA: Peter R. Ondera
Theater and performing arts

Peter R. Ondera is a playwright, author and poet in a masterful celebration of the Chamorro language and its culture.

In addition, Onedera has many successful accomplishments as a poet and organizer of the Chamorro Cultural Centre in Tumon and a playwright of the Chamorro language. Peter Onedera also is instrumental in establishing the Chamorro Languages Document Committee. Furthermore, he established the work-on language without borders. Onedera’s book, "Jumari," addresses the factual story of a CHamoru comfort woman during the dark days of World War II. The play tells a World War II story that happened on Guam and features a community of people, and a way to bridge a gap with younger generations about their history as a strategy of preservation, a means to tell the stories of the Chamorro people, and a way to bridge a gap with younger generations about their history.

We'd like to feature your story in the next newsletter! Please submit Living the Håfa Adai Pledge features and photos to hafaadaivisitguam.com

Take the Håfa Adai Pledge today! For more information, call 646-5278 or email HåfaAdai@visitguam.org.

Like Guam Visitors Bureau on Facebook

HÅFA ADAI PLEDGE CEREMONY

VALEY OF THE LATTE

A Håfa Adai Pledge ceremony was held March 15 at the Valley of the Latte. Standing first row from L-R: Joan Nathan Denight, Erani Zuniga, Niel Romero, Flora Weakley, and Troy Aguon. Standing second row from L-R: Barbara Cushing, Justin Baldovino, and Dusit Thani Guam Resort in Tumon. The ceremony was co-sponsored by the Guam Visitors Bureau and Mayor of Talofofo, John Nathan Denight.

The Håfa Adai Pledge is embodied in our hospitality, one that shares Guam’s rich island culture. From the moment Beachin’ Shrimp hosts greet guests, they feel welcome. Our friendly and attentive servers always offer to take pictures of guests, instead of asking if they'd like a photo. Our guests love seeing Guam and experience the Håfa Adai spirit of the local culture.

GUAMEDIA: Peter R. Ondera
Theater and performing arts

Peter R. Ondera is a playwright, author and poet in a masterful celebration of the Chamorro language and its culture.

In addition, Onedera has many successful accomplishments as a poet and organizer of the Chamorro Cultural Centre in Tumon and a playwright of the Chamorro language. Peter Onedera also is instrumental in establishing the Chamorro Languages Document Committee. Furthermore, he established the work-on language without borders. Onedera’s book, "Jumari," addresses the factual story of a CHamoru comfort woman during the dark days of World War II. The play tells a World War II story that happened on Guam and features a community of people, and a way to bridge a gap with younger generations about their history as a strategy of preservation, a means to tell the stories of the Chamorro people, and a way to bridge a gap with younger generations about their history.

We'd like to feature your story in the next newsletter! Please submit Living the Håfa Adai Pledge features and photos to hafaadaivisitguam.com

Take the Håfa Adai Pledge today! For more information, call 646-5278 or email HåfaAdai@visitguam.org.

Like Guam Visitors Bureau on Facebook