VACCINE PASSPORT IN JAPAN

COMMONPASS TRIAL OPERATION

COMMONPASS APP

An app implemented by different governments worldwide that allow tourists to report their COVID-19 PCR Test and check if they meet the entry requirements to visit a country.

- Japan plans to introduce “vaccine passport” to make it easier for people who have been inoculated against COVID-19 to travel internationally.
- The government is moving forward with the plan in the hope of resuming business travel, joining the European Union, the Association of Southeast Asian Nations.
- The passports are expected to be in the form of a smartphone app, with travelers scanning QR codes at airports before boarding flights or when entering the country.
- The app will link with the Vaccination Record System, a government database of people who have received shots.
- The ‘vaccine passport’ will likely be based on an app called CommonPass, which is developed with the involvement of the World Economic Forum.
- Keidanren, Japan’s biggest business lobby, called on the government on April 26 to consider introducing vaccine passports, pointing to the EU’s plans to launch its “Digital Green Pass” in June to allow foreign tourists to visit during the summer holidays.

MOFA UNABLE TO ARRANGE CHARTER FLIGHT FOR TAIWANESE OUT OF INDIA

Ministry of Foreign Affairs (MOFA) said Sunday it has been unable to arrange a charter flight before the end of May for Taiwanese nationals who want to leave India and urged those still in the country to book commercial flights if they wish to return.

In a statement, MOFA said it was working with the Friendship Tour travel agency to provide a charter flight before May 30, but the airline it was working with was unable to provide charter services due to difficulties in scheduling a crew.

India has been struggling with an unprecedented surge in COVID-19 cases in recent months. The country's health authorities reported 403,000 new infections and more than 4,000 deaths on Sunday alone, bringing the country's total reported infections to more than 22 million.

CHINA AIRLINES TO CUT BACK CARGO SERVICES AMID COVID INFECTIONS

China Airlines confirmed it will temporarily cut back cargo flight services to cope with a pilot shortage at a time when one-sixth of the carrier's pilots have been sidelined by a COVID-19 outbreak.

"We are working out a new schedule," the airline said in a statement in response to local news media reports on Saturday that it will reduce cargo services starting May 12, primarily affecting its U.S. destinations.

CAL declined to give details about its new operating plan, but the reports said CAL will suspend its cargo flights to Dallas (DFW), Atlanta (ATL) and New York (JFK) for two to three weeks.

The number of cargo flights currently operated by the carrier to the three destinations are six, seven and seven per week, respectively.

TAIWAN APPROVES EMERGENCY USE OF MODERNA VACCINE

- Taiwan has granted authorization for emergency use of the Moderna COVID-19 vaccine, and the first batch is expected to be delivered this month, Health Minister Chen said Wednesday.

- Taiwan has signed contracts to purchase 5.05 million doses of the Moderna vaccine and 10 million doses of AstraZeneca, as well as 4.76 million doses of unspecified brands through the COVAX program, which has so far allocated 1.02 million AstraZeneca shots to Taiwan.

STARLUX MULLING FURTHER POSTPONEMENT OF U.S. SERVICE

- Taiwan-based StarLux Airlines Co. said Sunday it is considering pushing back the start date for its flights to the United States, from 2022 to 2023, due to the COVID-19 pandemic
- Airline spokesperson Nieh Kuo-wei stated while the carrier recently obtained permission from the U.S. to fly there, it has had to reconsider the launch date for the service.
- "Now, with the pandemic still persisting, the launch of flights on the American route may be postponed further until 2023," he said.
- In terms of its fleet, four of the 13 single-aisle A321neo jetliners it is leasing are already in service, while another six or seven will be delivered by the end of the year, and others by 2022, he said.
- The airline will also lease at least eight wide-body A330-900neo jet airliners, the first of which is expected to be delivered by the end of this year, Nieh said.

TAIWAN'S CAL CANCELING GLOBAL FLIGHTS AMID COVID-19 CLUSTER

- China Airlines (CAL) announced on Friday it will cancel a total of 24 international flights by May 15 as an ongoing COVID-19 cluster involving 12 of its pilots has affected its crew dispatch.
- The affected flights are long haul services to North America, Oceania and Europe-- including Los Angeles, San Francisco, Vancouver, Frankfurt, London, Amsterdam, Sydney, Melbourne and Brisbane, while cargo services will remain normal.
- The decision was made amid an escalating COVID-19 cluster since April 20, in which 10 CAL pilots were confirmed to have contracted the disease, with another two pilots testing positive for the virus' antibodies.

ANOTHER 15K DOSES OF RUSSIA'S SPUTNIK V JABS DELIVERED IN PH

The Philippines on Wednesday night received another 15,000 doses of Russian-made Sputnik V Covid-19 vaccine which serve as "component 2 or follow-up dose" for the initial batch delivered on May 1.

Qatar Airways flight QR928 carrying the Russian vaccines produced by the pharmaceutical company Gamaleya Research Institute landed at around 9:37 p.m. at the Ninoy Aquino International Airport Terminal 3.

The first 15,000 doses of Sputnik V jabs (component 1) were initially rolled out in the cities of Taguig, Manila, Muntinlupa, Makati, and Parañaque as they have cold storage capacity.

The pilot rollout in five selected cities has determined the capability of the country to handle and administer the highly sensitive jab.
