Japan Overseas Travel in 2012 Breaks 18 Million

For the first time, the total number of Japanese traveling overseas surpassed the 18 million mark. According to the Japan National Tourist Organization (JNTO), 18,490,638 people traveled overseas in 2012. The figure represents an 8.8% increase compared to 16,994,200 in 2011. The highest outbound tally was recorded in 2000 with 17,818,590.

The number of outbound travelers from January through June 2012 was 8,964,605, an increase of 17.5% year-over-year. The rebound of Japan overseas travel (JOT) after temporary sluggishness following the March 11th triple disasters contributed to the double-digit gains. In the second half of the year from July through December 2012, JOT reached 9,526,033 exceeding the figure in the first half of the year, but the growth rate fell single digits to 1.7% compared to the same period last year.

A survey by the Japanese government revealed that 64% of consumers are giving more priority to spiritual fulfillment. "Since the Great East Japan earthquake, there has been an increased tendency among people to place importance on human bonds and relations with family members," said the government. Some 37.7% said they want to focus on their lives, giving priority to leisure and recreational activities, including travel. Much of the travel in 2012 was fuelled by consumers' renewed attitudes in their appreciation for family and friends.

In 2012, Guam welcomed 929,229 arrivals from Japan, up 12.8% from 2011's 824,005. Guam's market share also improved from 4.85% in 2011 to 5.03% in 2012.
